Head Teacher Update

Some amazing work this week at school. Freddie and Finnley were able to tell me all about the plants of the solar system, Lexi put together a fantastic formal email and Tyler has been reading about the body every day! Ryan and Oscar's culinary skills continue to develop, and they produced an incredible fish dish this week at College.

Enjoy the long weekend and see you all again next week.

Sam

Do you have any old farming artefacts?

Our pupils are learning all about the food they eat and farming, we would love to show them some old farming artefacts if you have any at home (we promise to keep them safe) i.e. horseshoes, old pieces of equipment etc
